DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-5, 7-9, drawn to a plurality of compositions that comprise a heptasccharide.

Group II, claim(s) 6, drawn to method of detecting a glycan with NMR.

Group III, claim(s) 10, drawn to method of using a composition as a vaccine in animals or humans.

Group IV, claim(s) 11-15 and 23-25 and 30-32, drawn to antibodies and formulations of antibodies (Kits).

Group V, claim(s) 16-22, drawn to methods of passively immunizing an animal.

Group VI, claim(s) 26-29, drawn to a plant that comprises the coding sequence for an antibody.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I-VI do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The first appearing invention is anticipated by Young et al (2002), therefore the first appearing invention does not define a unifying special technical feature that makes a contribution over the prior art. The compositions and methods to not share a special technical feature that defines over the prior art. The heptasaccharide, antibodies, Plant vector that comprises DNA for an antibody differ in structure, function and biological effect and the methods of use utilize compositions that do not share a common special technical feature; lack of unity of invention exists.

Art Unit: 1645

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

4. The species are as follows and are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Group I: a) heptasaccharide (claim 1, 7)

b) heptasaccharide linked to an amino acid that is asparagines (claims 3-4)

c) heptasaccharide linked to an oligopeptide (claim 2)

d) heptasaccharide that is an immunogenic conjugate (claim 8)

e) heptasaccharide that is an immunogenic conjugate together with an immunostimulant (claim 9)

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Art Unit: 1645

The following claim(s) are generic: no claims are generic.

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: each species structurally and functionally is different from each other species which results in different biological effects. Additionally the first species/invention does not define a unifying special technical feature that makes a contribution over the prior art, thus lack of unity of invention exists.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
